PROJECTS

Hunger Captain

This is an online food menu service for Cj Cafe. When you visit the restaurant, you often use the QR code to load the PDF of the menu. It has no image and is not easy to select. So we created the menu app where you can see food images with the needed information and select your items easily. During such an unprecedented time and social distancing, online menu card technology is a boon!

With the help of two unique Java projects, this project showcases Object-Oriented Programming techniques and also the analytical skills of a coder by presenting Eccentric Logical Programming Skills. The first project emphasizes the unique way of minimizing the time and space complexity while checking a Palindrome number in a program. The second, built with a combination of all of the Object-Oriented Programming Concepts of Java, which showcases how classes interact with each other and specifies the programmer's control over them.
